SET REQUIREMENTS

No set is required. However, a zoo setting complete with animal cage may be used, if desired.

(The lights come up on GUS, a man dressed as a gorilla who sits smoking a cigarette. His head or mask is currently removed. KARI enters dressed in a jogging outfit. She passes by GUS, does a double-take, then stops and laughs.)

KARI: Gus? Gus, is that really you? (GUS grunts and KARI laughs even more.) Oh that is too funny! (She continues to laugh.) Do that gorilla thing again!

GUS: Forget it, Kari.

KARI: Come on! (Slight pause. GUS grunts a couple more times. KARI is in hysterics.) That is the funniest thing I've ever seen!

GUS: Are you done? (KARI continues to laugh, then stops.)

KARI: Yeah, all done. What are you doing, anyway?

GUS: Going to work.

KARI: Hey! Is this the new job you mentioned? What's the play?

GUS: There is no play.

KARI: (Not listening) Are you King Kong? That is so cool! Wait 'til I tell everyone I live upstairs from King Kong!

GUS: I'm not King Kong! It's not a play!

KARI: It's not an acting job? I thought you were an actor. You told me you were an actor.

GUS: I am. It's a special job, OK?

KARI: OK. (Slight pause as she fumbles in her bag and then pulls out a banana.) Banana?

GUS: Are you kidding me? (KARI bursts out laughing again.)

KARI: Come on, it's funny!

GUS: Hilarious. (He smokes.)

KARI: Want it? (Slight pause, then GUS takes the banana and starts to eat it. KARI starts stretching.)

GUS: So what are you doing?

KARI: Just going for a run. (GUS grunts in understanding.) Why a gorilla?

GUS: I told you, I'm going to work.

KARI: But where? You've got to tell me, dressed like that. (Pause) Come on!

GUS: Forget it. Besides, I can't.

KARI: Why not?

GUS: I'm not even supposed to let people see me in costume outside of work. So, you didn't, all right?

KARI: Like I could forget this!

GUS: I'm serious!

KARI: OK! I won't tell anyone, but this is just so cool!

GUS: Hardly.

KARI: It is! Who else gets to dress up like a gorilla for work? You've got to tell me why. Please? (Slight pause)

GUS: Will you stop bothering me if I do?

KARI: Sure.

GUS: And you'll keep it to yourself?

KARI: Of course! (Slight pause)

GUS: The zoo.

KARI: The zoo what? Oh! Do you make those balloon animals? I love those! Can you make one for me?

GUS: No! I don't make balloon animals!

KARI: Then what?

GUS: I'm the gorilla.

KARI: What do you mean you're the gorilla?

GUS: I mean, I'm the gorilla.

KARI: Which gorilla?

GUS: The gorilla! (KARI stares at him blankly.) The zoo doesn't have a gorilla, so I dress up like a gorilla and hang out in the gorilla cage. I'm the gorilla.

KARI: But the zoo does have a gorilla, I've seen her. Gertrude, Gertrude the gorilla.

GUS: I'm Gertrude.

KARI: You're Gertrude?

GUS: I'm Gertrude. (KARI starts laughing again.)

KARI: You're a girl gorilla!

GUS: Shut up. It's not that funny.

KARI: (Still laughing) You're playing a girl gorilla!

GUS: I know that, OK? I've got to get to work now. Thanks for the banana.

KARI: Can I watch?

GUS: No!

KARI: Please?

GUS: After all that?

KARI: I'm sorry, but you have to admit it's funny.

GUS: Not when you're the one in the gorilla suit, it's not.

KARI: I guess. Do all actors do stuff like this?

GUS: Only when they're as broke as I am.

KARI: Oh. Do you need money? I've got some... (She starts digging around in her pockets.)

GUS: I don't want your money. I've still got my dignity. (Quickly) Don't say it.

KARI: I wasn't going to.

GUS: Look, I really need to go. I'll see you later, Kari. (He puts out his cigarette and gets up.)

KARI: I promise I'll be really quiet! (She looks at him hopefully.)

GUS: Fine, you can watch. But only if you promise to stop the kids from throwing things.

KARI: They throw things?

GUS: Oh yeah, toys, sticks, sometimes rocks.

KARI: That's terrible!

GUS: You don't really feel it through the suit. Come on. (GUS puts on his head/mask, lumbers into the zoo and over to his "cage." He then assumes his gorilla pose. We hear zoo sounds. KARI watches him. Pause.)

KARI: (Whispering) Well, do something!

GUS: (Whispering) I am! I'm being a gorilla! What do you think they do all day? Juggle knives?

KARI: That'd be cool! Can you do that?

GUS: No! Now be quiet, someone might come by. (Pause)

KARI: You know, Gertrude, you make a pretty cute gorilla.

GUS: I hate you.

KARI: Oh! Someone is coming! (GUS grunts and acts gorilla-like. We hear the voice of THE BRAT.)

BRAT: (Offstage) I want to see the gorilla! Over here!

GUS: (Under his breath) Oh boy. (THE BRAT enters and watches GUS. Pause.)

BRAT: Why isn't the gorilla doing anything?

KARI: Well, maybe she's just resting. I'm sure she'll do something really exciting really soon. (Pause as GUS wanders around, gorilla-like, and scratches his head.)

BRAT: She's boring!

KARI: No she's not! I think she's the best animal in the whole zoo. Aren't you, Gertrude? (To the BRAT) Don't you think she's just wonderful? (THE BRAT throws something at GUS.) Oh, don't do that!

BRAT: Do something! (THE BRAT throws something else.)

KARI: Stop it! Gertrude's a nice gorilla!

BRAT: Bad gorilla! (THE BRAT throws something again.)

KARI: If you stop, I'll get her to do a trick. (GUS grunts in surprise.)

BRAT: Oh yeah? What can she do?

KARI: Well, she can... roll over! Roll over, Gertrude, roll over!

BRAT: Do it! (GUS reluctantly rolls over.)

KARI: Good Gertrude!

BRAT: Is that it?

KARI: Oh no! Um... play dead, Gertrude! Come on! (GUS plays dead.)

BRAT: That's stupid.

KARI: But she can do all sorts of tricks! (Slight pause) Juggle! Can you juggle, Gertrude? (GUS advances on KARI and grunts very clearly that he does not juggle.) Maybe not. Oh! But she can dance! Come on, Gertrude, dance for us!

BRAT: Gorillas can't dance! (GUS grunts in agreement.)

KARI: This one can! Gertrude's really smart. Show us, Gertrude, show us what a good dancer you are. Please? (GUS grunts and starts dancing, badly.) Good Gertrude! Isn't she amazing?

BRAT: Dumb gorilla. (THE BRAT throws one last item and exits.)

KARI: OK, I think the kid's gone now.

GUS: I am going to kill you! What were you thinking?

KARI: I'm sorry! I was just trying to help. What was I supposed to do?

GUS: Anything but make me dance!

KARI: I'm really sorry.

GUS: Are you trying to get me fired?

KARI: They wouldn't! You're a great gorilla!

GUS: They will if they see me talking to you.

KARI: Oh. Maybe I should just leave you alone then.

GUS: Please.

KARI: Though I might as well look around while I'm here. I'd like to see some animals that aren't guys in suits. (GUS stifles a laugh.) What?

GUS: Nothing.

KARI: No, tell me.

GUS: Trust me, you'd rather not know.

KARI: I would!

GUS: It's nothing, Kari. Just enjoy the zoo. (Slight pause as KARI realizes what he means.)

KARI: There are others? What kind of zoo is this?

GUS: Hey, mine's not even the worst job.

KARI: What's the worst? (BERNIE enters. He is the ugliest, nastiest person you can picture and dressed as a pink flamingo.)

BERNIE: Gertrude.

GUS: Fifi. (BERNIE exits.)

KARI: Oh that is so wrong! (She runs offstage in horror and GUS settles back into his gorilla routine. Blackout.)
